2. Inserted by the Jan Vishwas (Amendment of Provisions) Act, 2026 (No. 8 of 2026), dt. 7-4-2026, w.e.f. 1-5-2026.

COMMENTS

Instead of above clumsy definition of "Legal Metrology", we may adopt OIML 2008 definition of Legal Metrology, which is as follows:—

The part of Metrology relating to activities which result from statutory requirements and concern measurement, units of measurement, measuring instruments and methods of measurement and which are performed by competent bodies. If Law Ministry feels then the word "Metrology" may also be defined prior to Legal Metrology.

- (k) "protection" means the utilisation of reading obtained from any weight or measure, for the purpose of determining any step which is required to be taken to safeguard the well-being of any human being or animal, or to protect any commodity, vegetation or thing, whether individually or collectively;

COMMENTS

This definition is vague, to make it concrete words "established by statutory provisions". Otherwise a Metrology Officer may take any thing under protection even without having any statutory provision.

- (l) "pre-packaged commodity" means a commodity which without the purchaser being present is placed in a package of whatever nature,

- whether sealed or not, so that the product contained therein has a pre-determined quantity;

- (o) “prescribed” means prescribed by rules made under this Act;
- (p) “repairer” means a person who repairs a weight or measure and includes a person who adjusts, cleans, lubricates or paints any weight or measure or renders any other service to such weight or measure to ensure that such weight or measure conforms to the standards established by or under this Act;
- (q) “State Government”, in relation to a Union territory, means the Administrator thereof;
- (r) “sale”, with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions, means transfer of property in any weight, measure or other goods by one person to another for cash or for deferred payment or for any other valuable consideration and includes a transfer of any weight, measure or other goods on the hire-purchase system or any other system of payment by instalments, but does not include a mortgage or hypothecation of, or a charge or pledge on, such weight, measure or other goods;

COMMENTS

We can include the words "examination" and "stamping".

- (w) "weight or measure" means a weight or measure specified by or under this Act and includes a weighing or measuring instrument.

COMMENTS

For clarity () may be removed where these are parts of definition, otherwise (i) for ith definition is confused with (i) first part in the definition.

The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Act or in any instrument having effect by virtue of any enactment other than this Act.

COMMENTS

1. India being a Republic, the subject of weights and measures was divided into two parts. Establishment of standards of weight and measure has been the responsibility of the Central Government and enforcement of laws on weights and measures was a State subject. Since the date of introduction of metric system in India (December, 1956), the Officers of Legal Metrology Departments of every State are carrying the verification of certain weights and measures like weights, capacity measures, beam scales, weigh-bridges up to certain capacity, petrol dispensing pumps and host of other items used in trade and commerce. No safeguard has been kept in section 24 to ensure that the Central Government will not be able to include the existing weights and measures being verified by the State Departments of Legal Metrology in the list of weights and measures to be verified by the approved centres. This apprehension is not purely imaginary. It is a well known fact that the Departments of Legal Metrology of each State is revenue earning, i.e. total amount of fee realised through verification is more than the expenditure incurred on the department. This shows that verification of weight or measure is really a profitable business which every body will like to undertake. Many people will become interested to become government approved centre.

2. Each State has been verifying the commercial weights and measures for the last 54 years. This arrangement should continue in future also, which is necessary to keep the federal structure of our country.

3. The power of selecting the kind of weight or measure, which the State is going to get verified through its Legal Metrology Department and which through a Government approved Centre should be vested with the States.

The State Governments are in better position—

- I. To decide as to which new weight or measure should be selected on priority for verification and which is not, and
- II. To know as to which particular private organisation is able to do the job better.

So the power of selecting the new weight or measure to be taken for verification and the private agency should do the job should be vested with the State Government.

In sub-section (4), the power of prescribing and collecting the fee from the government approved centres is of the Central Government which again is in contravention of the spirit of the Constitution of India. Hence, prescribing and collection of the fee should be left to the State Governments.

All such private test centres should be under complete control of the respective State Governments.

By doing so the Central Government is not being isolated from the process of selection of new weight or measure or the private agency, as an excellent arrangement already exists where the Central Government can advise the States in such matter in an effective manner. The name of the platform is yearly Controllers Conference. Every year a Conference of Controllers is held by the Central Government, which is presided by the Secretary in charge of the Department under which the Directorate of Legal Metrology is working.

There the Centre may suggest—

- I about the new weight or measure, which should be taken for verification
- II the names of private organisations which can do the job.
- III the fees on such weight and measure to be collected by the government approved centres.
- IV the fee to be levied for recognising these centres or any other matter which the Central Government may think necessary.

This decision will be a collective decision and binding to all State Governments. This goes very well with the spirit of our Constitution.

Moreover, the Central Government should then help the State to—

- I formulate the specification of new weight or measure,
- II identify the equipment needed,
- III impart the proper training and
- IV arrange finances needed for the purpose.
